

Outstanding Small Business Philanthropist

Emond Harnden

Nominated by National Arts Centre Foundation

As a boutique labour and employment law firm, Emond Harnden has represented the interests of management in both official languages for over 30 years.

Emond Harnden offers comprehensive support services for senior executives, managers and in-house counsel including seminars and workshops tailored specifically for all levels within an organization, from front-line supervisors to senior management, dealing with, among others, the duty to accommodate, addressing workplace harassment and violence, termination issues and pro-active management of workplace safety and insurance claims.

With an extensive experience representing their clients in front of all levels of courts and tribunals up to the Supreme Court, our lawyers help clients resolve workplace challenges in a cost-effective and strategic manner.

“Giving back to the community has always been second nature to us. Throughout the years, we have forged solid partnerships with several organizations making a positive difference to others: from charities empowering youth and women, to educational institutions, cultural establishments, healthcare foundations and research organizations.

Now, more than ever, we are fully invested in helping our community overcome the hardships brought on by the pandemic. Fundraising efforts return long-lasting benefits to society and we are honoured to lend a helping hand!” – Lynn H. Harnden, Partner at Emond Harnden LLP
